Parliamentary Oratory.

From the London Saturday Review.

"Who is the first orator in England?" an egregiously stupid person once asked Lord Brougham. "Lord Derby is the second," was the self-conscious reply. The querist had, no doubt, forgotten the Henry Brougham who (chiefly heard in later days at Social Science Congresses) had once, as the defender of Queen Caroline and the champion of Parliamentary reform and negro emancipation, made all England ring with his fame. Now, however, though Lord Derby certainly does not stand second as an orator even to Lord Brougham, in the general opinion of Englishmen, it is not at all so clear that the leader of the Tories is the first orator in the country. The "Rupert of debate," whose headlong charges in the Commons sometimes threw the Liberal ranks into confusion, suffers in the Lords, not only from the influence of time, which has taken from the timbre of his once so ringing tones, but has also been gradually allowing some of his most remarkable powers to rust from disuse, partly because the atmosphere of the House of Lords is too cool for his native fire, and partly because he never finds in it a foeman worthy of his steel.

To extinguish a pretentious Duke of Argyle by a felicitous anecdote, or to banter an amiable Lord Granville, whom the most venomous of opponents could scarcely wish to wound, or to tease Lord Russell by such happy epigrams as "meddle and muddle," is only to bring into play some of the minor qualities of that eloquence, limited, perhaps, in its range, but startling and exciting in its power, for which the Lord Stanly of a former day was so distinguished. But it is in the more popular branch of the Legislature that the gift of oratory can be exercised with most facility and freedom, as it is there, also, that it is most frequntnly called forth. Thither, therefore, must we turn to find the men whose voices in the days we live in oftenest stir the heart of the country to its lowest depths, and whose words, faithfully recorded and carried to every corner of their own land and of the world, keep alive in the hearts of our people a traditional pride in their great representative assembly, and make its proceedings an object of unfailing interest and emulous imitation among all civilized races of "articulate speaking men."

Mr. Gladstone possesses the copia dicendi in an eminent degree. His wealth of words is marvellous, and the unfaltering fluency with which they are poured forth. His ideas are also remarkable for clearness, order, and cohesion, and his general treatment of subjects may justly be called exhaustive. His divisions are a little too mechanical, and one cannot now hear of the regular "three courses" without a smile. A great element of his power as an orator is his intense subjectivity. He so identifies himself with his subject, he so makes of it, as it were, a cause to be contended for tanquam pro aris et focis, that the depth of his convictions for the time being gives to his matter a force, and to his manner an earnestness, that never fail to make an impression. But this subjectivity is also a source of weakness when it leads him to propound what seems to him political or economical truths, with a dogmatical authority that will not brook correction or dissent. He seems to convey in so defiant a manner his settled and imperturbable assurance that any one who presumes to differ from him must be wrong, and wrong with so hopeless an imbecility in error, that further argument would be wasted upon him, that he often fails to convert to his way of thinking men whom a more persuasive and condescending style of reasoning would easily gain over. It is unnecessary to say how successful has been his management of the public resources, or how frequently he has taken a Parliamentary majority almost by storm and gained from all quarters the support of measures which have previously been regarded by many with disfavor. But nevertheless we do not consider his Budget speeches, as a rule, the best of his oratorical efforts, and the "city men" who sit them out in order to have the first and fullest exposition of his intended policy generally complain of weariness at the close. They were mor satisfied, on the whole, with Sir George Lewis, wretched speaker as he was; but Mr. Goschen, whenever in the fulness of time he becomes Mr. Gladstone's Chancellor of the Exchequer, will be just the man for them. Mr. Gladstone may called, we think, the Tennyson of finance; for he brings to his public expositions of it not only the powers of his reason, but also the resources of his imagination, and clothes them with a beauty of diction and richness of illustration which men delight to hear. Still it is not the less true that a simpler treatment would generally be more effective; that the subordinate parts of the subject are sometimes developed with too much diffuseness, and that the artist often prevails over the statesman in these elaborate efforts. Mr. Gladstone's delivery is very good. His voice, if not powerful, is clear and judiciously modulated, his enunciation distinct, though natural and unaffected, and his gesture, though sparingly used and not remarkably graceful, easy and appropriate.

Mr. Disraeli has few, if any, points of contact, and many of contrast with his great antagonist. His great defect as an orator is the want of that subjectivity of which Mr. Gladstone has rather too much. That Mr. Disraeli is never in earnest it would be unjust and absurd to think, and that there are many principles of public policy which he advocates from conviction is very probable. But the appearance of hesitation and effort with which he often speaks gives a disinterested and impartial auditor the impression that his words are not so much the signs of his inward ideas, as attempts, sometimes painful and not quite successful, to give expression to opinions that are struggling for utterance in the minds of others; that he is speaking not exactly what he thinks, but rather what others may like to hear, or he may wish them to believe. We have no doubt, however, that this hesitation is often affected, and we have remarked it at times when it seemed carefully designed to give more effect to keen invective or biting sarcasm. On comparatively rare occasions, when there is some great personal interest in the debate, or when the peculiar characteristics of an opponent have led him upon some happy vein of humor, it is very pleasant to hear him. His manner, so languid and listless, becomes warm and animated, his face is lit up with a glow of comic enjoyment, his words come out freely and with a brisker emphasis, and the unhappy wight upon whom he is giving for the time as it were, an anatomical demonstration, wriggles uncomfortably in his seat, and adds, by his evident sensibility under the operation, to the general amusement. Not long ago, the Times reminded us of the confusion caused in Lord Aberdeen's Cabinet by the sort of moral psoriasis with which Lord Russell became afflicted in consequence of one of Mr. Disraeli's sallies. The incident illustrates what we have just been saying, and is worth recalling. When Lord Aberdeen formed his Coalition Ministry, Lord John of course could not be left out, and yet was not able to make up his mind for the acceptance of any subordinate office. It was arranged, then, that for a time at least, he should have a seat in the cabinet without office. But a man of so active a mind, and who was beside the leader of the Lower House, was sure to have a great deal of not merely private correspondence, and after a while, an office was taken for him in Lancaster Place, near Somerset House. This was an opportunity for Mr. Disraeli, who very soon took occasion to deplore most feelingly in the House the equivocal and incongruous position which a statesman of the noble Lord's great eminence and services occupied in the new administration. He really could not imagine what the noble Lord's duties were. He had heard of an office being taken for him in Lancaster Place. Perhaps the noble Lord had been appointed toll-keeper of Waterloo bridge. The House was convulsed with merriment; but Lord John took the matter so seriously that a new distribution of government officers had to be made at once, with great indifference to the convenience of the parties displaced, and the Presidency of the Council was the salve with which the wounded dignity of the Great Unemployed was healed.

In the same high rank with Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Disraeli, as a public speaker, Mr. Bright has undoubtedly a right to be placed. He does not speak nearly so often in Parliament as either, but his style of oratory, either there or at public meetings, abstracted from the subject matter of his speeches, is as worthy of admiration and imitation as almost any model in our language. As distinguished from Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Bright's best efforts have more of Demosthenic power and concentration than of Ciceronian copiousness and finish. His English is pure, terse, nervous, and in masculine clothing, earnest thoughts, vigorous and telling words.—He does not always or often carry the House with him, because he too frequently shocks the strongest prejudices and most deeply-rooted convictions of the majority; but if his hearers could divest themselves of personal antipathies, they would be forced to own that no one among them better deserves the palm of eloquence. Separating the three great men we have named into a class of themselves, there are perhaps a dozen members, such as Sir Roundell Palmer, Sir Hugh Cairns, Mr. Roebuck, Mr. Whiteside, Mr. Horsman, Mr. Lowe, and others, whom we would place in the second rank.—Lord Stanley, though a first-class statesman, can scarcely be considered an orator at all, not merely from his physical defects, (which we may observe in passing he would better overcome by cultivating the lower notes of his voice,) but also from the too philosophical and didactic tone of his speeches. After all these there comes a "mob of gentlemen who speak with ease," but our subject does not, for the present, admit of further illustrations.

SALISBURY BRASS BAND

REORGANIZED 1st January, 1866, on a larger scale than formerly, under the direction of its former tutor, W. H. NEAVE, who was also chief music writer and Band Teacher in Gen. Lee's army. He will be assisted in leadership and direction by his brother, Ed. Neave, leader during the entire late war of Gen. Lee's best and most favorite band, viz: 4th N. C. The Band is composed of the best members of the old Band together with the best members of several of the fine Bands trained by W. H. Neave, in camps, who have moved to Salisbury from all points in the State to follow their respective vocations and continue the study and practice of music. This Band will be a permanent institution for all State and festive occasions, and will equal the best to be found in the world, if sustained by those desiring a fine order of Brass and String music; if not, it must go down after this year.

W. H. Neave is also agent for the celebrated Dodworth Brass instruments, proved and warranted to him, and by him to others; also, the most pleasing, effective and popular Pianos now selected by his friends, H. B. Dodworth and Kent Botsford, New York. For beginners, medium players, and advanced musicians, no more perfect.

Music composed and arranged to order for Parlor, Orchestral and Brass Band use for any kind and number of instruments.

Salisbury has been selected for Musical Headquarters for its central position.

The President's Proclamation---The Radicals.

We have no further information as to the details of the President's Proclamation than that furnished by the telegraphic synopsis published in our issue of yesterday. It would appear, from that abstract, that the President has not, as yet, declared a general amnesty nor restored the privileges of Habeas Corpus to the lately insurgent States, as, perhaps, some anticipated he would do, but the Proclamation may fairly be regarded as the initiative to these and other desirable consummations. For what he has done, he is entitled to the commendation of every friend of the Constitution and the Union, and to the especial gratitude of the people of the South. Each act of his administration raises him higher and higher in the confidence and affections of the people, and illustrates more and more grandly his sagacity and his patriotism.

The President declares that the "insurrection" is at an end, and that peace once more reigns throughout the wide extent of the land. He asserts, in the most emphatic manner, that the people of the Southern States are "well and loyally disposed," and that they have conformed their legislation to the existing condition of affairs. What a rebuke does this convey to those malignant and unprincipled men, North and (with shame be it said) in our own midst, who are seeking to create the impression that the South is still bitter and disloyal! The President, however it may be with others, is not imposed upon by the calumnies of disappointed or vengeful politicians. He recognizes the evidences of cheerful submission which our people have presented, and, like an honest and magnanimous man, he appreciates, commends and endorses it. All honor to him for it!

While the Chief Magistrate of the country, in the exercise of his Constitutional and Executive prerogative, is thus engaged in his great work of pacification and restoration, the so-called Reconstruction Committee is also still engaged in its work of pulling down. While the President, upon a survey of the whole field from his commanding eminence, affirms the honesty and loyalty of the South, the Radical bigots at Washington are busy in the subterranean dungeons of the inquisition, and by methods only known to that atrocious tribunal, in endeavoring to impeach that loyalty. They are summoning, to prove their case, men and women who were residents of the North, and who were prejudiced against the South, long before called on for their evidence. Federal officers, probably disposed to be honest in their intentions, but whose position and education prevent them from obtaining correct views, are largely in demand. Cotton dealers, who have robbed Southern men amid the confusion of no Government, and who wish the confusion to continue, come readily forward to testify that the South is unfitted for self-government. Treasury agents, who wish their agencies continued, and men having no position, but hoping to obtain one, are all voluble in their belief that the South is too disloyal to be trusted. And last and least, disappointed, envious, vindictive and broken down politicians among our own people are, directly or indirectly, bringing forward their pique and grievances and laying them at the feet of the persecuting committee.

The chasm which separates the President from the Radicals was sufficiently distinct before, but now it is broad, deep and impassable. Every man must stand on one side or the other. It cannot be said of any man, "sect," party or faction, that "the President is with you—Congress is with you." We do not despair of the issue. The Union, which has been preserved at the cost of so much blood and treasure, will yet stand. And posterity will award ANDREW JOHNSON the glory of being its great defender. He is rescuing it from greater dangers than ever threatened it at the hands of armed legions.

GOLD closed in New York, on the 2nd., at 127¼. Cotton had a declining tendency, with sales of 520 bales at 40@40½ cents.

Colored Contractors and Colored Post Masters.

We received a call on Tuesday from Mr. Vassal, the late special Agent of the Post Office Department in the State, and Mr. A. Jobe, of Tennessee, his successor. Our conversation was brief, and we received the following impressions:

Both of these officers, we think, are anxious to restore the mail routes and the post offices, but we were surprised to hear Mr. Vassal intimate that both the contractors for the mails and the post-masters, could be supplied from the colored population. We demurred at once to his suggestions on this subject, but admitted that, perhaps, in some few cases, colored men of respectability might be allowed to become contractors. In this view we understood Mr. Jobe as concurring with us. A few moments reflection, however, after they left, convinced us that we had made a hasty and incorrect admission.

The following letter from Mr. Vassal, which we find in the Salisbury Banner, calls up the matter, and reminds us that we owe it to Mr. Vassal, and the public, to attempt to correct his error, and remonstrate against so manifest a departure from what is due to the law, to society and to the interests of the community in the Southern States:

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE SPECIAL AGENT FOR NORTH CAROLINA,
Fayetteville, Feb. 22, 1866.

DEAR SIR:—Yours of the 17th has just been forwarded to me. In reply I have to say that the law recognizes no difference between a white man and a black one. We have several contracts with colored men in Virginia, and one in this State. If a man, black or white, can give the required security and bonds, he can hold a commission as post-master. The old black laws are all repealed.

Very Respectfully,
B. B. VASSAL,
Special Agent.

COL. C. A. CILLEY, Salisbury.

"The old black laws are repealed." That is true. The colored people are secured by law every privilege and protection in all civil rights necessary for the defence of their lives, their persons and their property. But there is no law yet, either National or State, which enfranchises them and makes them citizens of the United States or of the States. The Civil Rights bill was designed not only to give them all civil rights, but all political rights. But, happily for the country, that bill is not yet a law and we trust never will be.

But to the main point: We are anxious to see the mail contracts revived and postmasters appointed, but we object positively to those offices being filled by colored persons, for the following reasons:

1st. It is contrary to any existing law. No alien white man could fill either office, nor can colored men, until the law declares them to be citizens.

2d. The great accommodation offered to the public by the U. S. P. O. Department, is only valuable in the proportion as it enjoys the confidence of the public, as a safe and reliable medium of communication for letters, papers and money. If colored persons were employed as mail contractors and postmasters, it would forfeit entirely the confidence of the Southern people in the Department. Nothing could induce them to risk valuable matter in charge of colored persons, unless the government would ensure its safe delivery. Public confidence is much shaken already in the safety of the mails, while managed by white persons, and, if transferred to colored or black persons, would be entirely forfeited. Not that the public believe every colored man is not trustworthy, but because of the general want of confidence in them. Mr. Vassal, who has been residing in the State some time, must have seen this, and he has been singularly fortunate if he has good evidence to support his belief in the general virtue and reliability of the colored race.

3d. Such a scheme would subject the government to great loss and trouble from the general infidelity in office which would prevail.

4th. Such a resort would shock the moral sense and the social feelings of the South, and lead to an almost universal withdrawal of the people from any reliance on the P. O. Department.

If Messrs. Vassal and Jobe desire to revive the postal system of the South, as we have no doubt they do, we advise them to seek out the most honest, reliable and energetic white men or ladies, who can be induced to accept the position and take the oath; otherwise, let matters remain as they are.

Connecticut.

Sufficient returns from the election in this State have not reached us, as yet, to enable us to say with certainty what has been the issue. The probability is that the Republican candidate has been chosen by a very meagre majority,—some four or five hundred at most. In the Presidential election of 1864, Lincoln's majority over McClellan was 2,506, and in the Gubernational election of 1865, Buckingham's majority over Seymour was 11,035. If Hawley is elected, therefore, by an inconsiderable majority of a few hundreds, the result nevertheless indicates an advance in conservatism, which augurs the ultimate, and perhaps speedy, overthrow of the enemies of the Union.

STONEWALL CEMETERY.—We publish, to-day, the beautiful address of Mrs. Fanny M. Downing, of Charlotte, President of the Stonewall Cemetery Association. Our readers are aware that the object of the Association is to raise funds for the establishment of a Cemetery at Winchester, Va., as a depositary for the remains of our noble dead, who fell in battle around Winchester. Many a beloved son of North Carolina sleeps near that place, and we trust our people will respond to the call for means to accomplish the end in view.

The Association has done well in the selection of its President, and equally well in the selection of Col. W. Lee Davidson, of Charlotte, as its Agent in this State. Col. Davidson has the enthusiasm in the cause necessary to success.

For the Sentinel.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—As some discussion has arisen in regard to certain files of newspapers belonging to the State Library, and which, at one time, were supposed to be missing, I think a bare statement of the facts is due, not only to the parties immediately interested, but to the public also, in order that it may the better form its opinion in reference thereto.

Before my return to the Library, about the first of January, the files had been put into the hands of the binder. About the first of February, as well as I recollect, the binder informed me that the files for '63 were not among those sent out to him. I immediately went to Mr. Bradley, Gov. Holden's Librarian, and made enquiries about them. He informed me that he had put into the binder's hands all that he found in the Library, when he took charge of it, and that, if those of 1863 were not among them, he knew nothing about them. I was much concerned in regard to the supposed loss of the papers, knowing that they were the best record of the times that could be collected, and knowing, also, full well, that they were on their regular file when I left the Library last September. After a minute search, I found them packed in a box in the upper part of the Library. Such are the naked facts in regard to their supposed loss.

Now, Messrs. Editors, permit me to say that I do not believe Gov. Holden had any knowledge that the files were put where they were found, and I will give you my reasons for that belief: Supposing that Gov. Holden had any disposition to prevent access to the files of the Standard, he knew very well that there were other files of it in the city than those belonging to the State Library. Having occasion, myself, during the last gubernatorial campaign, to refer to the Standard of '63, and not finding that of the Library on regular file, I was permitted access to the Governor's. Nor was that the first time. In 1854, having occasion to refer to the Standard of 1850, and having no file of that date in the Library, upon request the Governor very courteously lent me his own.—He must have been well aware for what purpose I wanted it, viz: to point out the inconsistencies in the political teachings of the Standard of 1850 and 1864. Thus, Messrs. Editors, it is very evident that, in whatever light others may regard Gov. Holden's political record, he, himself, has no disposition to cover it up in a box, put it under a bushel, or in any other manner conceal it. It is known to you, Messrs. Editors, that I am no political admirer of Gov. Holden, but political differences never have, and I trust never will, prevent me from doing fair and even-handed justice.

Very Respectfully,
O. H. PERRY.

April 4th, 1866.

[We have made no charge or insinuation that Governor Holden had himself removed the files of the Standard from their ordinary place in the Library. We have simply stated that when persons wished to consult them, some portions of the files were not to be found.—The Provisional Librarian declared he did not know where they were, and, after they were found, he declared he did not know who put them in the box and placed them in the upper part of the Library. Now we were simply curious enough to inquire, "Who put them there? Why were they put there?"—not, in any manner, designing to intimate that they were placed there by Gov. Holden. But our present Librarian makes a point, which is not so clear: He says, "it is very evident that in whatever light others may regard Gov. Holden's political record, he himself has no disposition to cover it up in a box, put it under a bushel, or in any manner conceal it." Now this, we conceive, embraces the entire ground of complaint with our correspondent "P. E. C."—Judging from the declarations of the Standard, for the last ten months, as well as from the course of the Provisional Governor towards Maj. Husted, it does look as if he was disposed to put his former lights under a bushel! How else can our worthy Librarian account for the order not to permit Maj. Husted, who up to that time was on friendly terms with the Governor, to visit the Library?—EDS. SENTINEL.]

An exchange very truly remarks that if one-tenth of the contemplated amendments to the Federal Constitution run the gauntlet of the State Legislatures, the organic law which our forefathers framed with so much deliberation and care will soon be in the curious condition of the famous pair of stockings which were "darned" and otherwise repaired until not one particle of the original material remained. No old fashioned, wooden bottomed ship ever returned from a whaling cruise of four years with half as many barnacles clinging to its hull as there will be "amendments to the Constitution."

GEN. BRADLEY T. JOHNSON.—We are gratified to learn that this gentleman, who was recently arrested and held to bail, in Baltimore, to answer an indictment for treason, has been released. The President interfered and ordered an abandonment of the case.

N. C. BONDS.—North Carolina old sixes are quoted in New York at 85.

Great Southern Fair.

BALTIMORE, April 2.—The great Southern Fair, for the aid of the destitute people of the South, opened to-night at Institute Hall, with a dense crowd. The collection of goods is very large and costly.

Proceedings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The proceedings of Congress to-day were generally unimportant.

The Senate debated the bill to reorganize the Judiciary of the United States.

In the House the Loan Bill was reported favorably and without amendment.

The consideration of the President's veto was postponed, probably on account of the absence of several Senators, and also until the vacant seats are filled.

It is not necessary to summarize here the testimony of Lee and other southern men whose judgment and honor are beyond doubt. It proves, with reference to Virginia, what would be shown in the case of every other state, were resident witnesses called upon. It furthermore shows that the radical charge of disloyalty on the part of the south is simply a sham, a pretence. It will have the effect to open the eyes of the country to the true character of the inquisition, which, under the guise of a reconstruction committee, is now in session at Washington.—Chicago Times.

The Old and New School Presbyterians of Colorado have united under the style of the Presbytery of Colorado.

FROM WASHINGTON.

More Evidences Before the Reconstruction Committee---New Jersey Senatorship.

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, of Tuesday, writes:

Mr. J. R. DeBow, who was formerly superintendent of the census, and has recently made a tour through the Southern States, was examined last Thursday before the committee on reconstruction, in reference to the political condition and industrial prospects of the eleven States now excluded from representation. His statements and views were given at some length, and will prove to be of interest.

I learn that the U. S. Supreme Court will give a decision to-morrow or next day upon the test oath question in the case of Garland ex parte. If so, the decision will be adverse to the constitutionality of the oath. The majority of the court had come to this opinion some weeks ago.

If the New Jersey Legislature elect a Senator at all at the present session, they will elect a conservative. This will be a sore disappointment to the radicals, and may defeat their plot for the removal of the President. One or two other favorable circumstances are noticed, which will aid the conservatives in retaining a sufficient force to sustain the veto on the civil rights bill, and the future very important vetoes which are soon to follow.

After the Connecticut election the Senate will have no motive for holding back the District negro suffrage bill. They will pass it probably in the form in which it came from the House, that is, the extension of universal and unqualified suffrage to the blacks of the District. The Democratic Senators will, of course, resist any proposition to entrap the President into a qualified negro suffrage bill. Both the radicals and the conservatives desire to press the matter to a veto.

The republican party of Congress has been quiet in regard to negro suffrage, of late, lest the issue should destroy them in Connecticut, and it would in Pennsylvania and Ohio, and other loyal Northern States. But the scheme is only suspended, not abandoned. It is the main plank of the republican platform.

The Governor of Vermont, as the Legislature is not in session, will appoint a successor to the deceased Mr. Foote. We learn that his choice will almost certainly fall upon Mr. Hiland Hall, a gentleman who was favorably known in Congress some twenty-five years ago, and was afterward a member of the Land Claim Commission in California. Mr. Hall may be here by Wednesday.

PROBABILITY OF SUSTAINING THE VETO.

A Philadelphia paper of this morning says, in its Washington dispatches: "It is generally conceded that the Civil Rights bill will be passed over the veto, on Tuesday." If it had been added that such "concessions" are made only by people who don't know what they are talking about, the statement would have been correct. As it is, there is not a word of truth in it. On the contrary, it is well known to all well informed persons here, that such a result was never certain, and depended altogether upon the election of a Radical to succeed Mr. Stockton, and upon the continued illness of Mr. Dixon and Mr. Wright; and that since the noble and patriotic stand taken by Mr. Scovel has been known, the Radical leaders have not only abandoned all hopes of being able to carry the bill, but will not even dare to try to do so. Indeed, according to the present indications, it looks as if they will try to postpone the consideration of the bill indefinitely. This, of itself, is a confession that they are vanquished, and that they cannot pass the bill over the President's veto.

Owing to Mr. Scovel's action, the Senate cannot at present consist of more than 49 members. It will require the vote of 33 of these to pass the bill over the veto. The vote of 17 Senators will be enough to sustain the veto, and prevent the passage of the bill. But the Radicals can only count on 31 votes, including Mr. Foot's successor and Mr. Stewart; and it is not absolutely certain that Mr. Stewart will vote with them. On the other hand, it is certain that 17 Senators will vote to sustain the veto. This 17 includes Messrs. Harris, Morgan and Norton. If Mr. Dixon and Mr. Wright are well enough to attend, it will swell the conservative vote to 19.—Washington Correspondence N. Y. Herald, April 2d.

Weldon Herself Again.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—It being understood that the bridge over Roanoke river would be completed by the 2d inst., the citizens of the town, and many from the country, assembled to witness the passing of the first train over the new and excellent bridge, built by that accomplished architect, Mr. Samuel Hand, of Portsmouth, Va., being, I think, the third that he has built at the same place.

At the schedule hour for the arrival of the Seaboard and Roanoke train, (an engine in town was fired up for the purpose,) and the bridge being ready, Mr. Hand, the architect, together with many of the citizens of town, got aboard and passed over to meet and welcome the arrival of the train and passengers from Portsmouth. It was met on the bridge and escorted over amid the booming of cannon, the whirling of hats, and the loud cheering of the citizens, which was responded to by the passengers on the train. Then came on the train from Petersburg—the same courtesies being extended in greeting the arrival of that train and passengers as to the first. All meeting together from the four different railroads, and extending to each other the hand of fellowship and friendship, brought to mind the good old days of yore.

Long will be held in remembrance, by the citizens of Weldon, the 2d day of April, 1866, after being shut out and cut off from the usual routes of business so long.

When our town was crowded with troops and travelers, it was impossible to afford that accommodation to the travelling public that was desired, but now that business and travel have resumed their former channels, we can promise good accommodation to the travelling public. There is here a good and well kept Hotel, together with several stores, which will enable us to give all who may call upon us entire satisfaction.

Attempted Murder of General Forrest by a Negro—The Negro Killed.

MEMPHIS, April 1.

A letter from Sunflower County, Mississippi, says a negro man employed on Gen. Forrest's plantation, while assaulting his (the negro's) sick wife, yesterday, was remonstrated with by Gen. Forrest. The negro drew a knife and attempted to kill Gen. Forrest, who, after receiving a wound in the hand, seized an axe and killed the negro. Gen. Forrest then gave himself up to the sheriff. The negroes of the plantation justify the homicide.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—We invite the attention of our Merchants to the advertisement of the "New York and Wilmington Weekly line of first class Steamships" in another column. Mr. Barry, the Agent in Wilmington, is at present in this City, and will doubtless present to our dealers the superior inducements which the line affords. We commend the enterprize to their favorable consideration, in the full assurance that they will find it to their interests to patronize it.

Col. William Lamb, of Norfolk, general agent, announces that the splended British steam-ship Ephesus will sail from that port for Liverpool, direct, on or about May 1st. It should be the duty of every one in the South to encourage this enterprize, as it will be of great benefit in developing the resources of the States interested and in contributing to their material resuscitation. The freights are exceedingly low,—on cotton, for example, but one cent. in specie, per lb. Liberal advances will be made on consignments. See advertisement, and address Col. Lamb for full particulars as to freight.

Watson advertises a new style of picture, the Porcelain or Albatype. Watson takes admirable pictures, and his Gallery is always full of choice specimens.

A. J. DeRosset offers for sale a desirable residence in Chapel Hill.

Messrs. McKimmon & Sons have received a large and elegant stock of Spring goods, selected by the senior partner in person in the Northern cities. His taste and judgment in making selections require no endorsement.

J. J. Litchford has on consignment a large lot of Corn and Peas.

SUPERIOR COURT.—Another colored offender received "forty, save one," on yesterday.—Cause—taking somebody's corn, without leave.

Maj. D. A. COVINGTON, of Union county, offers large bodies of lands in different parts of the country for sale.

NORTHAMPTON COUNTY.—A correspondent of the Norfolk Virginian, writing from Jackson, gives the following account of affairs in Northampton county:

"It is a fact that there are double or more persons now engaged in mercantile pursuits than ever before. This arises from the uncertainty of the present system of labor, and a desire to be relieved from the difficulties and annoyances attending the cultivation of the soil. Many farmers find, by keeping a small stock of such articles as the freedman may need, the surest way to secure their services, the easiest and most profitable to pay their wages. There are many large and fertile farms in this county, especially on the Roanoke river. Formerly it yielded more cotton than any other county in the State. In 1851 it produced 5,210,724 pounds cotton, about 11,000 bales, most of which found a market in Norfolk and Petersburg."

THE RESIDENCES of Mr. Geo. Hepenstall and of Mr. Hays, at Enfield, Halifax county, were destroyed by fire a few days since.

WILMINGTON MARKETS, April 2nd.—Sales of 62 bales of cotton, at 32 cents for midling.

Spirits Turpentine.—Sales of 50 casks at 52½c. per gallon for white, in N. Y. pks.

Crude Turpentine.—Sales of 100 bbls., at a decline of 35c., at $3 75.

Rosin.—Sales 127 bbls., at $2 per bbl. for strained.

Tar.—Sales of 190 bbls., at $1 60 per bbl.

PETERSBURG MARKET, April 2d.—Gold and Silver.—Gold, buying at 125; selling at 129.—Silver, buying at 121; selling at 125.

Tobacco.—On account of the Easter holidays, there were no breaks yesterday.

Cotton.—Advices by steamers yesterday announced a decline of three farthings on cotton, causing quite a flat feeling in this market. We heard of a few bales sold at 36½c. previous to the European news, but after that none was sold at all. We presume that prime is worth about 34½@35c.—Index.

GENERAL NEWS.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—An official statement shows the muster out of volunteer troops, ordered by the war department, will be nearly completed by May 1st, and that there will then be left in the service forty-seven thousand three hundred men, of whom two-thirds are colored.

The ex-Confederate steamer Shenandoah was sold at Queenstown, on the 22d, at auction. It brought £15,750.

Bishop Rutledge publishes an address, announcing that the Episcopal church of Florida has united with the church in the United States.

It is said that Colonel Mosby has been offered a high position in the order by the Fenians of Baltimore.

We are much obliged to Mr. Sumner for sending us copies of Senator Nye's speech; we get twelve cents a pound for them.—Boston Post.

A TOUCHING SPECTACLE.—At the funeral, on Monday, of our lamented fellow-citizen, T. B. Bennett, Esq., we were reminded of the good days gone by, on seeing, in the procession, a large number of very nicely dressed colored persons, the crape on their hats showing the relation they held to the deceased, as also the affection and respect they bore his memory.—There were about a hundred colored persons, we are told, among the mourners.—Charleston (S. C.) News.

TOBACCO DECISION.—The Secretary of the Treasury has withdrawn the permission heretofore granted to manufacture old and damaged tobacco, with the payment of duties only upon the increasing weight.

In Georgia, where Sherman's army made a sweep of all the carriages, the ladies now go visiting in carts. They call them cartes de visite, and console themselves with the thought that they are in the height of fashion.—Clarion.

THE FARMERS IN GEORGIA AND ALABAMA.—The Commissioner of Agriculture has received reports from correspondents of the department in the States of Georgia and Alabama; which represent that the farmers are engaged in planting very large crops of cotton, and but little corn and wheat.

The Savannah Republican speaks of an engine on a certain railroad that is adorned with the name of "I Still Live." That is more than many of the passengers can say at the end of the journey.—Galveston News.

Bishop Lay says: All is confusion in Arkansas—no preaching in the country. He will have several clergymen at work soon, and could employ twenty-five if he had them; the negroes are greatly worsted in morals.

Archbishop Spalding has issued a call for a council of the Roman Catholic Archbishops and Bishops throughout the United States, to meet in Baltimore on the first Sunday in October.

PHILOLOGICAL.—The new word morrillize affords example of the readiness with which necessity finds proper mode of expression. The objection that it is similar to moralize is hardly tangible, as the sense of the two is quite unlike. The definition in the new Webster, we understand, will be: MORRILLIZE, v. a., to vote in any legislative body in the absence of a colleague with whom a pair or parol has been effected; 2, to violate a parole; 3, to act in a perfidious or dishonorable manner.

A REMARKABLE ELOPEMENT.—One of the most remarkable cases of elopement that has come under our observation in a long while has just transpired in the village of Groesbeckville, adjoining the lower part of the city. A man named George Rosenbeck, aged eighty-five, ran off with a German woman aged seventy-five.—Both are married and have large families. What could possibly incite this pair to such a step is indeed a mystery. But such is life.—Albany Knickerbocker.

A Remarkable Case.

DISEASE IN WHICH THE LUNGS AND THROAT ARE INVOLVED.—Mrs. Phebe Perkinson, Petersburg, Va., (Aug. 26, 1855,) says: "I hereby certify, that two years ago last June, I was afflicted with a disease commonly called the Breast Complaint, the pain and weakness in the breast continued to increase so that I could not bear my clothes fastened on me for the space of two years; I found great difficulty in breathing; a general debility prevailed over my whole system—so much so, that I could not walk up the steps without drawing myself up by the banister; had a continued hacking cough, which distressed me greatly, four times during my illness had Hemorrhage of the Lungs. All medical treatment failed to afford me relief; it was the opinion of my friends that I must die with the consumption; I was advised to use the SOUTHERN HEPATIC PILLS; after using three boxes, strictly according to directions, I find myself in the enjoyment of perfect health; I have a good appetite, have become as fleshy as I ever was, sleep sound and pleasant, and can perform any duty with as much strength and vigor as I ever did. They certainly have acted like a perfect charm on me."

CLEANSE THE BLOOD.

With corrupt, disordered or vitiated Blood, you are sick all over. It may burst out in Pimples, or Sores or in some active disease, or it may merely keep you listless depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of the body into vigorous action, restoring the health and expelling disease. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurity of the blood such as Scrofula, or Kings' Evil, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cancer or Cancerous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Female Diseases, such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, also Syphilis or Venereal Diseases, Liver Complaints, and Heart Diseases. Try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and see for yourself the surprising activity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these disorders.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound "Sarsaparilla," and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. We can only assure the sick, that we offer them the best alterative which we know how to produce, and we have reason to believe, it is by far the most effectual purifier of the blood yet discovered by any body.

Ayers Cherry Pectoral is so universally known to surpass every other remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease, that it is useless here to recount the evidence of its virtues. The world knows them.

From the Charlotte Times.

ADDRESS.

To the Women of the South.

A movement has been inaugurated by the ladies of Winchester, Virginia, having for its object the removal of the bodies of the Confederate soldiers now lying in various localities around that city, and their interment in consecrated ground, which is to bear that name which causes every Southern heart to thrill with emotion—STONEWALL JACKSON.

The expenses attendant on such an enterprise are necessarily great, and it is proposed that they shall be rendered less onerous by being generally distributed.

The ways and means to best secure money for the defrayment of these expenses will readily suggest themselves to those, who will go to work in the cause with the earnest endeavor, which it so well deserves. With the hope that the subjoined address may accomplish some little good, the writer submits it to her Southern sisters, feeling sure that this enterprise and the object for which it has been undertaken, have only to be mentioned, to secure for them the hearty co-operation of every true-hearted woman throughout our beautiful and desolated South.

During the last four years the women of the South have displayed an amount of energy, courage, fortitude and unselfish devotion to their country, which has gained them a fame that will go down through the history of coming ages gilded with an immortal lustre.

In no form were these qualities more conspicuously displayed than in the treatment of our soldiers. In supplying their necessities, the most delicate among us forgot pain and physical discomfort, and the only regret connected with their service was that we could not do more. For them devotion became a duty, sacrifice a pleasure and, so far from diminishing, these loving attentions seemed to increase in proportion to the necessities, which called them into action.

Well were such attentions deserved, and nobly were they requited. If Southern women gave much, it is certain that they received in return, a "full measure, pressed down and running over." Standing like a wall of iron between them and all that woman most dreads, the noble soldiers of the South presented a band in ministering to which the proudest woman might have felt herself honored.

It is all over now! The cause for which they fought so well is lost—the last march has been made—the campaign is ended; the banner, which so often waved them on to victory, is furled forever; the watch fires are as dead as the bright hopes of those who lighted them, and ashes, significant of desolation, alone remain.

It is all over now! No more pain and weariness; no more longing and heartaches; no more patient endurance, and hoping even against hope. No more cold nor hunger; no more journeys tracked by the print of bleeding feet on the snow. It is all over now, and nothing remains of our soldiers but their graves, scattered over the scenes of their conflicts and their victories. And even these are becoming so rapidly obliterated, that before the flowers of another spring shall bloom with increased beauty from the rich flood which has bathed their roots, all traces of these mute memorials will have passed away.

Mute memorials, but most eloquent in their voiceless language, they appeal in tones of flame to those, who have never before allowed a soldier's appeal to go unregarded.

Southern women! we have a duty to perform to our dead; a sacred obligation, a melancholy pleasure. We can save their remains from further desecration. We can lay them in their final resting place, to slumber quietly until the resurrection morning, feeling that it is our proud privilege to be able to pay the last sad duties to those who, having given us their all, now ask at our hands an honored tomb.

They lie in their nameless burial places, on the hill side and in the secluded valley—on the banks of the streams that have run crimson with their blood, and on the dusty highway over which they marched to do battle for us.

Every State has here her representatives for, from the rich vallies of Virginia to the flower-crowned shores of Florida, from the mountains of Carolina to the waving prairies of Texas, they came, ready to lay down their lives for the country they loved so well—only their graves remain!

Southern women! let us remember that we belong to the sex which was "last at the cross—first at the grave." We have stood by our country during the awful horrors of her death struggle. Let us now go hand in hand, to the grave of our country's sons, and as we go, let our hearts be thrilled by this thought:

"It is the last thing we can do for our soldiers!"

LIFE INSURANCE NOTICE.

THE old and well established
Ætna Company, of Hartford,
Offers superior inducements to all who wish to provide for family or friends.

All losses are promptly paid. No case of litigation has ever occurred with this Company. With assets of $2,500,000, it offers to receive one half of the premium in a note and half in cash, and, after the second year, to credit each customer with the dividends of the Company, which are now 50 per cent. With a small outlay, $500, or $10,000, or $20,000, may be secured to the family after their earnest providers are taken away. What father or husband would not feel thankful on his dying couch, that he had availed himself of every proper means to place those nearest and dearest to him, also e the p nchings of want and a life of dependence upon friends or charity? 8 819 policies have been issued from the office ending Jan. 15, 1866. The total income for the year 1865 was $1,683,339 57; total disbursements $527,805 24, leaving a balance to surplus fund of $1,155,2 4 33.

In Raleigh a large number have liberally responded and promptly acted in this matter; yet many delay, and may wait until it is too late. A man in this city lately left his place of business for his evening meal, well and healthy, but never reached that home except as he was carried there to die. Had that man taken the advice of the Agent, he might have left $5000 to minister to the necessities of a sorrowing family. Delays are dangerous, procrastination destructive. But one says, "If I only had confidence in the Company that it would pay, I would insure." Well, it never has failed to pay, and to day is more responsible than ever before. It is patronized by some of the most sagacious minds in the land—men competent to detect and expose any deception if it existed.

CIRCULAR.

The Co partnership of G. W. DEEMS & C. F. DEEMS has been dissolved, by mutual consent, and the business of manufacturing the Southern has gone into the hands of G. W. DEEMS, the discoverer, who has removed to Baltimore, Md., where he can have access to the purest and best Medicines on the most favorable terms. He will always keep on hand a large supply, and will sell to his customers, wholesale and retail, at the shortest notice.

Where these Pills are known, especially in the Southern States, where they have been circulated so extensively, they need no recommendation—their merits are so well known by their results.

We thank our customers for the liberal patronage given us heretofore, and hope they will continue to favor us by sending their orders to G. W. DEEMS, No 28 South Calhoun Street, Baltimore, Md., where they will be promptly attended to, the cash accompanying the orders. Price 50 cts. per box; $2.50 per dozen, and a liberal discount to dealers.

For sale by P. F. PESCUD, and WILLIAMS & HAYWOOD.
